

Foreword

The following pages were written in November 1936, but the idea was originated by my dear wife, Ida Kinman Leabo, soon after our marriage Dec. 6-1881. She was a daughter of Alanson Kinman, who came from New York, his native State, to Oregon, in 1844, and married Martha ^{Elizabeth Jones} Gerrish who was born near Forest Grove Ore. Ida was their ⁴fourth child, and received her education at Tualatin Academy and Pacific University, located in Forest Grove. She joined the Congregational Church early and retained her membership through life. We lived happily together over 44 years, until her death. Being a Pioneer herself she was greatly interested in early history of Ore. and often urged me to write an account of our trip 'across the plains' from Iowa, which I now regret not doing at the time, since I could have gotten data from my parents and an Aunt who crossed in the same strain. However on her insistence I started a family tree beginning with my Grandfather Jacob. About 1920 I heard of a society in Los Angeles, who were seeking to establish claims as heirs to a vast English

Conservation - I have found that Mrs. S. and Lucy Newton are buried on adjoining lot North and a separate plot bearing their names and dates inscribed thereon.

Estate of William Jennings, who lived and died in America. Francis Isaac LeBas^(Leabo) married Sarah Jennings in his vicinity, and I tried through them and relatives to establish an heirship in the Estate, obtaining his war record from the G. A. R. in Iowa. Altho the claim was not clearly established, I became interested in a family tree, and in carrying out the wishes of my dear wife, now dead, so the these pages are from the data obtained, from my living relatives, and from my own memory.
The dates of some are approximate but most of the important items are verified. My mothers aged parents William S. and Lucy Newton, my Grandfather Jacob Leabo, my Father and Mother, and all their children who are now dead, excepting William, buried at Auburn, Baker Co.
and Flora Ann Brobst, buried in the Brobst lot in Greenwood Cemetery Portland, are buried in the Masonic Cemetery, one mile N.W. of La Fayette, Yamhill Co. Oregon, and their names, together with their birth and death dates are inscribed on the large granite stone in the center of the lot, shown in the picture above.
Having carried this record through five generations,
I am leaving it to my daughter and son, and my four grandsons, with a request that they continue same during their lives and their posterity ad finitum.
Monrovia Cal. Nov. 27-1936. Alonzo Reas Leabo.

This family record was compiled and written by A. R. Leabo in 1937 at his home in Monrovia, Los Angeles County California, when he was in his 80th year of age.

my great grandfathers

Francis Isaac LeBas (Leabo), born 1754 in Normandy, France, died about 1840 in Gasport, Indiana, married Sarah Jennings in Virginia about 1784, who was born about 1756, died about 1840. Eleven children were born to them, Noah 1786, Josiah 1788, Susan 1790, Rachael 1792, Jacob 1795, Sarah 1796, Elizabeth 1798, Catherine 1799, Jimmie 1800, Lucinda 1802, Linn 1805.

From G. A. R. Army records in Iowa.

Francis Isaac LeBas came to America with the French Army under Gen. La Fayette, entering the service from Normandy, France in 1779, he served in capacity of Captain of Saint-Leger regiment, Dr. Denis Sennelie and the officers P. 238 of our French combatants in American Revolution, Pub. of Nat. L. society G. A. R. 1903, in which Vol. his name is given on P. 250, 3rd column, second from top as Francis LeBas Col. Count De Saint Maisson, he married Sarah Jennings of Virginia, where they lived a short time, later moving to Kentucky and then to Tennessee, where their fifth child (Jacob) was born in Knox Co, Sept 12, 1795. They lived in Gasport Co.

Indiana, and died at the home of their daughter Catherine Leabo Van Buskirk at Gasport Ind. and are buried in Van Buskirk Cemetery, 1 1/2 miles S.E. of Gasport. Their graves are unmarked save for a rough stone bearing no inscription, according to descendants residing there. Later it is learned that all Revolution soldiers graves were marked with suitable stones by the G. A. R. Although living in the Southern States they were never slave owners, and were always Abolitionists. Each year a hatter came and stopped at the farms until he had made each a hat. A cobbler came with his lasts, leather and shoe findings and made each one shoes. The women spun flax and made tow shirts, ^{for children} which came down to their knees, which was the only garment worn by children until 12 to 15 years of age. Men mostly ^{wore} buckskin, and coon-skin caps. The women carded and spun wool for stockings and made lincey-woolsey cloth, for their dresses ect. Schools were taught for 3 months of each year in log-houses. Game was very plentiful and comprized nearly all the meat supply. Elk, deer, bear, coon, possum, and wild turkeys and smaller birds. Various kinds of nuts and wild fruits, with honey and maple sugar were abundant.

He died in his 86th year of age

My Grand
father

Jacob Leabo, born Sept. 18 1795, (5th child of Francis Isaac and Sarah Jennings LeBas,) in Knox Co, Tenn. The family lived in Kentucky, and later moved to Gasport Co. Indiana where his ^{parents} died. He was married in 1820 to Elizabeth Bailey who was born in Kentucky Jan. 9 - 1803, and died in 1852 and was buried in Campbell Cemetery in Linn Co. Iowa. Nine children were born, Ellen (Darr) Leabo, who died at Portland, Oregon, July 27 - 1917, Francis Marion born 1827, Augustus Ceseak who died July 18 - 1925, and is buried at Salem Oregon, Mary Helen, Merlin (youngest), Orcemus, Oscar, Alice, Oredon James, born Aug. 25 - 1833 in Indiana and who died in the loghouse at McMinnville Ore, Mar. 15 - 1906. Jacob Leabo was always a frontiersman, living in Tennessee, Kentucky and other states in their early settlements. Fought in their Indian wars, and was a great hunter of game. He crossed the plains to California in the gold rush in 1849, and made another round trip later, and in 1862 crossed with his son Oredon James and family riding horse back and scouting for the train. After the death of his wife in 1852 he made his home in his sons family.

In politics he was at first a ~~an~~ upwards Republican which he voted until his death. He served all during the war with Mexico. He was a great walker and while living in Forest Grove Ore. would walk to Portland 25 miles east in about 6 hours, always using a cane. He was 66 years of age, but in good health at the time of starting with the family for Oregon, and was very active and helpfull in making up the outfit for the trip, having crossed 4 times, and knew all about the distances, govt. stations, river crossings, camping places, ect. At the end of a days drive it was necessary to find a place where there was wood, water and grass in plenty, since a train of 100 wagons had more than 700 head of stock and had to depend entirely on grass for feed. At times it was necessary to camp 3 or 4 days where grass was good, to rest up and strengthen the stock. When trading posts were reached all footsore, crippled or sick stock was traded for others since trying to take them along would slow up the train. Before leaving Omaha Neb. a Captain was elected, who had complete charge of the train, when to start, halt, and camp, but some questions were decided by votes.

Any wagon could leave the train at any time, but none could join excepting by vote of approval. Those who had too poor an outfit to keep up had to drop out at stations. The Captains wagons were in front at starting and others fell in behind and kept their places, but if a wagon was not ready, when order was given to start, it had to fall in at the rear which was the dustiest place. In the evening when they reached a camping place, the train divided in the middle, one section turning to the right, other to left, driving to form a circle, and when in the Indian country, the wagons were shoved ahead to the next, until they formed a closed circle, the campfires were built outside, and the stock driven inside after feeding and wagons chained together. This was done so attacking Indians could not stampede the stock. They attacked a train just ahead of us, and the writer remembers seeing some of our men, carrying their Captain (Brand) on a stretcher dead, an arrow sticking from his breast. All the dead were buried in graves dug in the wagon track ahead, so the wagon wheels driven over obliterated all signs. He went with the train to Portland Oregon, afterwards returning to Auburn, Baker, Co. to accompany the family down to Portland. At one time he started East with Joe Meek horseback, and when out in the Indian country he became very sick. Meek thinking he would die, deserted him in the night, taking all horses and food and continuing the journey. The Indians captured Jacob, and took him to their camp, and cared for him until he was well enough to travel, giving him a pony and food. He tried to find Meek to settle with him, but failed. In 1849, while at Butters Fort, he and his son Francis Marion were taken down with smallpox. His son died, and when he recovered, his money and camp equipment had all been taken. He died on a farm near La Fayette, Ore and is buried in the Masonic Cemetery, $\frac{1}{2}$ mile N. E. from La Fayette, Yamhill Co. Oregon. He was 84 yrs. 6 months of age.

Oredon James, was the 4th child of Jacob and Elizabeth Leabo, and after he married was engaged in farming in Linn Co. Iowa. All farm work was done by hand, in those days, dropping corn, covering, cultivating and weeding with hoes, and finally gathering, husking and shelling by hand. The prices were so low that there was no profit in raising it, so in the fall of 1861 they concluded to join many others who were leaving next spring and drive across the plains to Oregon. He hauled corn to Muskatinee during the winter and spring of 1862, selling the loads for $2.50, just the wages for a man and team, so they burned it for fuel until they started, leaving some in the crib. At that time the family consisted of Grandpa (Jacob), himself and wife and 5 children, Bert Flora, Reas, Della and Ida. They started with a 4 yoke ox-wagon, and a 4 horse spring-wagon for the family to ride in, and some saddle horses. After getting out into the hostile Indian country they camped one night near a small stream and turned ^{all} the work-horses out to drink and feed. Some Indians were hidden under the bank and when the band of horses were past them they jumped out waving their blankets, shooting and yelling, stampeding the horses away from camp.

 The men in camp mounted the saddle-horses with guns and a running battle ensued, but the Indians chased

the horses over a low hill where there were a lot of Indians with horses and so finally got away with nearly the whole band. They had to leave the spring wagon on the prairie and ride in the ox team. The Indians attacked many trains that year and killed a number of emigrants, and stole much stock. After many weary months and many accidents and other hardships, they arrived at the mining town of Auburn in Baker Co. Oregon where they spent the winter 1862 and 63, and where a baby boy was born in Jan. 1863 (William) who died one month later. They lived here until fall 1863, then drove to 'Amatilla landing' where they went by boat to Portland Ore. arriving in Oct. 1863, and spent the winter in a hotel at Milwaker Ore, ^{where Olive was born.} The family moved to North Portland in Spring of 1864 and run a dairy in partnership with a man named Sheppard, later selling out to him and moved to south Portland, where O. J. ^{as he was called.} was a guard at the Penitentiary at that time located on front street. In Sept 1865 they moved out to the Alvin Brown farm one mile north of Forest Grove, Washington Co. Ore. which they rented for one year, built a small house and where the family lived until the fall of 1866, raising their first crop of wheat in Ore.

In the fall of 1866, they bought a lot and house on north Main Street in Forest Grove, the seat of Pacific University and Inatatin Academy, which the Iowa part of the family attended for several years. Here Kate was born Feb. 8 - 1870, Dorothy May 23 1872 and Percy May 25 - 1874. While living here O. J. ran a peddling wagon selling to farmers, dry goods, notions, tinware, groceries ect. and buying their eggs, butter, poultry, furs, wool, pelts and many other kinds of produce. Every Friday he drove to Portland where he sold the produce and brought back goods for his own and other merchants stocks. No railroads were built in Wash. Co. at this date so all freighting was by teams, the farmers hauling their wheat, oats, hay ect. to Portland over rough and often muddy roads, one ton to 1 1/4 tons being a good load, and taking from our vicinity two days for a round trip. In 1874 they sold the old home on Main St. and bought a lot on 1st Ave. and built a house which they traded to David Smith, of St Joseph Gambell Co. for his farming implements and stock, feed ect. and rented his farm (about 330 acres under cultivation) for 3 years, the family moving on same in Sept. 1877.

the lease was a long bill when there were a lot of Indians

This farm was operated by O.J. and his sons Bert & Reas in copartnership. The rental price was 5 bu. wheat for each cultivated acre including orchard and meadows. They bought a wire binder (first year they were operated here) and a horse-power Thresher, which they operated one year threshing for other farmers in the vicinity also, then traded the horse-power for a steam engine (the first used in the section) which was quite a success. At the end of the 3 year lease they had quite an outfit, all paid for, Steam Thresher, 2 binders, seeder, cultivator, 2 Sulkeys and several walking plows, 14 workhorses and mules, cows, hogs, sheep ect. Besides feed and seed, and in the summer of 1881 they bought 330 acres one mile north of Mc Minnville Yamhill Co. Ore. (the County-seat of Bidney Burnett, purchase price $13000 - $1000 down and balance in notes due in ten years. They built a house & barns, and Alonzo Reas married, and occupied same in December, 6 - 1881. They leased the Smith place for another 3 years farming both places. In 1883 they bought 42 acres of Sam Gibbs, lying between theirs and the Co. road for $2200. Prices of grain was now declining, so they cleared the Smith farm to Henry Newton and the family moved on their own place in Sept 1882, A.R. Leabo and wife moving back to Forest Grove, Wash. Co. where he worked in a General Mdee. store belonging to his wife's father A. Winman. Father and Bert farmed this farm many years but the prices of grain was generally very low, and one year they sold cleaned, packed wheat at the warehouse for 36 cts. per bushel. They tried fattening cattle in the mountains west of Mc Minnville, at one time having 100 head in summer range there. On driving them out in the fall the price was so low that they rented a market in Mc Minnville, and retailed the meat. In the fall of 1898 they sold the farm to Koubert Bernard for $15000 which enabled them to pay all notes and debts and the family moved to Mc Minnville, where they made a home and where O.J. Leabo died March 15th 1906 and was buried in the family lot near La Fayette. While pasturing the cattle in the mountains west of Mc Minnville, he built a log cabin, which he and others used for a hunting camp, deer and bear being found there. On one trip he and 3 others spent 3 weeks in the Coast Range mountains hunting and fishing. Two other times in August, he drove down from Mc Minnville to Forest Grove where the writer was employed, and took him and 4 others two days back horseback in the mountains hunting elk. On the second trip the writer succeeding in killing a large bull elk with huge horns.

In early life he learned to play on the violin, and evenings would entertain his children and others playing such oldtime dancing tunes, such as 'Money Musk', 'Irish Washerwoman', 'Arkansas Traveler', 'Turkey in the straw', etc. In politics he was a Republican and took quite an active interest in support of that ticket. He was 72 yrs. 6 mo. - 20 days of age.

My Mother

Amanda Melvina Newton was born Sept. 21-1835, and married O. J. Leabo June 27-1853. Was 27 years of age when they crossed the plains to Oregon. Being in perfect health and being able to care for her 5 small children her baby Ida nearly one year old, she never wanted to turn back and endured the many hardships without complaint, always striving to make her family comfortable, and bring them through without accident which she did, and helped others not so fortunate. Many were sick, some died and others turned back to their old homes. Up early to cook breakfast by campfires, packing up to be ready to keep place in the train through heat and dust, which at times almost obscured whole train, knowing that this would continue day after day for several months. At times there were terrific rain and hail storms, swollen streams to ford or ferry, rough, high mountains to cross and other places of danger. Teams would stall and other yokes would hitch on ahead and help them through, and always the dread of Indians. At times they would come to camp to steal or beg and had to be watched. She never refused them something to eat. Arriving at Auburn, Ore. Mage as she called him, built a log-house, then went to Placerville to work in mines, so she had sole care of the family for several months, since he did not return until the family were in Milwaukie Ore. Always she wanted to get out on a farm which they did 2 years later moving to the Alvin Brown farm, one mile north of Forest Grove, Ore. to which town they moved one year later, where 3 youngest children were born. She was always contented at home, seldom leaving it, and always doing something useful. A kind affectionate mother whom all her children adored. When they moved to the farm at St Joe station she greatly enjoyed the farming. In 1882 she went by R.R. back to see her aged parents Mrs. S. and Lucy Newton at Sidney, Iowa and remained over winter. Here she took a severe cold, which developed into consumption which she never could cure. She lived 5 years on the farm near Mc Minnville passing June 2-1897, and is buried in the family lot in Masonic Cemetery one mile N.E. of La Fayette, Yamhill Co. Ore. aged 61 yrs - 8 mo - 11 days.

Albert Henry Leabo, was born near Sidney, Fremont Co. Iowa, (first born of O.J. and Amanda Leabo) on April 20-1854. He was 8 years old when he crossed the plains to Oregon. He remembered a great many incidents that occurred enroute such as Indian attacks, stolen horses and oxen, crossing swollen streams, breakdowns, cooking at camp fires ect. and was very helpful gathering wood (buffalo chips) getting water and other camp duties. At one camp on a bench above a stream as the train of wagons drove slowly away, he and Rea took a cup and went down for a drink. Seeing some fish they pelted them with stones and so forgot the passing time. When they started up the bank, they saw the camping place was covered with Indians and their ponies. The Indians were picking up anything left by the camp. Grasping his brother's hand Bert hurried down stream under the bank in the direction the train had gone for some distance and they finally came up to see several horsemen hurrying back to look for the missing boys. The Indians disappeared at once. At another time his mother was baking bread, and an old Indian begged for some. When she handed him some he broke off a piece and gave to Bert to eat first, being afraid of poison. After arrival at Auburn Ore. he attended school and later in Milwaukee and Portland. At Forest Grove he worked on farms and carpentering, and helped on building the R.R. building ^{them} through Wash. Co. He always took quite an interest in politics and always supported the Republican ticket. He never married and lived in the family all his life. He was always fond of camping, hunting and fishing and taking trips to the coast, and was always the handy man in camps. After selling the farm they built a large log-house (8 rooms, 2 story) where he lived with the family until his death May 9, -1926, and is buried in the family lot in Masonic Cemetery, near La Fayette, Ore. aged 72 yrs - 19 days

Flora Ann Leabo was born near Sidney Iowa. Dec 26-1855

6/19-37
 She was the second child of O.J. and Amanda Leabo, when a child she had a white-swelling in her left knee and used crutches many months and limped slightly for many years. She was very helpful to her mother in crossing the plains in caring for the younger children, assisting in the cooking and many other camp duties. She attended the Academy and College at Forest Grove Ore and taught several terms of school in other districts. Also in Tillamook Co. She lived in the family until she married Jacob Luther (Cal.) Brobst Aug 29-1887 - at the farm 2 miles north of Mc Minnville Ore. Then went to Portland where they kept a boarding-house for some time, afterwards moving to California, near Folsom, on American River, where he was employed as watchman on a large gold mining dredge. The family lived for some time at Verdi, Nevada, where he was employed in a feed & horse store, also in the mines near Gold Hill, Ore. Returning to Portland they acquired a house on Glen Ave. near E. Harrison afterwards trading same on a house at 1932 S. E 26 Ave, where they made their permanent home. While living here he was employed in the U.S. Customs service for some time. While living in Portland their only child Eleanor Margerite was born Jan. 3-1890, who attended school in Oakland Cal. and became an expert stenographer and typist, and was employed in law offices in Portland for about 30 years. She married J. L. Shaw Jan. 3-1909 and their only child Agatha Elizabeth, was born June 12-1910 at Oakland Cal. She returned to her mother's home where she has resided ever since. Flora Ann Brobst died Dec. 6-1936 and J. L. Brobst, Nov 6-1935 Both are buried in the family lot in Greenwood Cemetery about 2 miles south of Portland Ore. aged 70 yrs 11 mo, 10 days.

J. L. Brobst was 84 yrs. 4 mo, 19 days of age. Born
 Flora Ann Brobst daughter, Eleanor, divorced J. L. Shaw and married Ray W. Meadows, a druggist March 1-1924
 Agatha Elizabeth married David Pearson March 7-1934 and their daughter Susan, was born Oct. 1, 1935, and their son David William Pearson was born Sept. 25-1937.

Adella Letha Leabo, 4th child of O. J. and Amanda Leabo was born near Sidney Fremont Co. Iowa Sept. 22 - 1859, and was 2½ years of age when the family left for Ore. Was too young to remember the trip. Attended school first in Forest Grove Ore. and taught in districts adjacent. While the family lived on the farm near Mc Minnville Ore. she visited Ontario, Canada, where she remained 9 months. In 1900 she accompanied her sister Effie to Nome, Alaska, where they had a restaurant until winter, then selling out and returning to Ore. After Effie's marriage, she made her home with her, and came with her family to Monrovia Cal. On Nov. 12 - 1928 she became paralyzed on her left side, and 5 years later another stroke almost completely paralyzed her, and at this time cannot move, and can hardly see or hear, or talk, but recognizes people and understands what they say. Although she said earlier, she would gladly pass on, she never complained. She was never married. She died August 7 - 1937 aged 77 yrs 10 mo. 15 days. She was cremated and ashes sent to Masonic Cemetery near La Fayette Ore. and deposited in the family lot there.

Ida Ladocia Leabo, 5th child of the family, was born near Sidney, Iowa, Aug 23 - 1861, so was only one year old when the family reached Oregon. She attended school at Forest Grove, Wash. Co. and at Dist. school one mile north of St. Joe station Yamhill Co. when she was 16 yrs. of age. She never married, so helped on the farm there, at the farm north of Mc Minnville, and at the loghouse home in Mc Minnville, where she took care of the house for many years, helping to take care of her sister Kate's ^{Webbers} 3 boys until they were grown to manhood, and after they were gone to the World's War, was very active in Red Cross work in Mc Minnville. After the death of her Brother Bert, she sold the old home and came to Monrovia, and two years later, when Della was paralyzed she and her sister Dorothy, took entire care at her sister Effie Dunham's home. 3 years later they moved her to 320 W. Duarte Road, where they are still caring for her. Later - she died Sept. 6. 1936 of heart disease, and her ashes were sent to La Fayette Oregon, for interment in the family lot in Masonic Cemetery. Aged 75 yrs. 14 days. She was never married.

Along Reas Leabo, was born near Sidney, Iowa. Aug. 27-1857. The third child of this Leabo family. His fifth birthday anniversary while crossing the plains. He remembers some places in Iowa, and some incidents enroute. Went to school in Auburn Ore. and remembers a school exhibition and supper in which he spoke, sang etc. Auburn was a rough mining town, and had several saloons and gambling dens. Fights and murders were frequent and a "man for breakfast" was common. I remember seeing a mob running down main street, dragging a murderer by a rope around his neck, and swinging him up to a tree near the schoolhouse. In the fall of 1863 we went to Portland where he attended school. At that time Portland's business houses were on front and first streets, and the State Penitentiary was located there. In Sept 1865 Alvin Brown drove downⁱⁿ and hauled the family and their belongings to his farm one mile north of Forest Grove. Here I attended school and worked mostly on farms until 1873 when I did my first store work for W. D. Hoexter, Genl. Mdce. I went with my father and family to the David Smith farm at St-goo station on S. P. R.R. in 1877 and was station Agent for about 2 years, also was Wells Fargo Agent there. In Dec. 6, 1881 was married to Ida Hinman of Forest Grove and went to live on

The Sidney Burnett place which we had purchased and where we lived until Sept. 1884 when I moved to Forest Grove and worked in my father-in-law's (A. Hinman's) store of Genl. Mdce. Here their first child Bertha Alice, was born ^{see page 35} Nov. 27-1884 and Roy Hinman Leabo, June 12-1888, who died Feb. 22-1891. and is buried in the Hinman lot, on Buxton Hill cemetery a marble stone marking his grave. The third child Floyd Alanson Leabo, was born Feb. 13-1893. A. Hinman sold out his store about 1893 and I returned to the farm and helped put in and harvest one crop, and commenced building a house for my family on the farm, but in about 1893 father's house burned to the ground, together with much house-hold goods, so I concluded to abandon farming. Father finished the house I had started and moved his family in. I went down to Forest Grove and obtained work in the genl. Mdce. store of Haines and Bailey. In about 3 years Mr. Haines sold his interest to Mr. John E. Bailey and I became manager and did most of the buying and pricing the mdce. I worked nearly twenty years in this store, doing a prosperous business and Mr. Bailey became quite wealthy. He employed 10 clerks, and 2 years after I left, he sold out his stock and retired from business.

On quitting the med. business I bought a house on E. Ore. + 30 St. Portland, and moved my family there. In the meantime I had purchased the Forest Grove Hotel on Pacific Ave Forest Grove and hired my brother Bert and two sisters to operate same. After about 2½ years, I sold the hotel and furniture to W.R. Foss. I also sold a part of the block to the Knights of Pythias who built a three story brick building on same. After living about a year in Portland, The First Nat. Bank of Forest Grove offered me a place as Cashier, which I filled about 5 years, my family still living in Portland. After retiring as cashier I closed out a large ^{bankrupt} stock of shoes, for the First Nat. Bank in Vancouver, Washington. Next year, ¹⁹¹⁶ I bought a ten acre ranch near Vancouver trading it next year for a dwelling in Montá-Villa, E. 78 St. Portland, afterwards selling it to Jefferson Meyers. I next sold the home on 30th and Ore. Street and rented a house on E. Wark. and 32 St. At this time they wanted men in shipyards, acct. of the war, so I worked a few months for the N.W. Steel Co. building steel ships, my job was operating an electric rethreading machine for bolts, which I did until the war closed. My wife Ida and I concluded to move to a warmer climate so went by steamer to S.F. ^{Cal.} After one month went by rail to Redlands Cal. remaining until spring, then by Bus. to Los Angeles, then by Steamer to San Francisco and home at Portland. Next fall we went by train to Southern Ore. stopping at Oakland, Roseburg, Medford and Ashland. We returned to Portland in the spring, but concluding we liked Cal. best sold what real estate we could and went by Steamer to Los Angeles and Electric train to Monrovia, Los Angeles Co. Cal. arriving in July 11 1919. In a short time I bought a house and 2 lots at 327 E Olive St. where we and our daughter Bertha and her 2 sons Clyde and Robert made our home. In 1921 I bought a store and building at El Toro, Orange Co. in partnership with my son Lloyd, but after operating it about 11 months it burned to the ground with contents. I had $6000 insurance which with pelling the lots practically covered the loss. My dear wife, Ida, had suffered with Asthma for several years, and passed on Jan. 28-1926, and is buried in Live Oak Cemetery, one mile south of Monrovia. In 1927 I traded 4 acres of land near Forest Grove Ore. for a house and lot at 527 E. Olive Ave. Monrovia, and July 25-1929 married at Portland Oregon, Ella Brobst Broderick my Brother-in-law's sister, and after driving to the Sid. Mohler ranch on Nelson River in Tillamook Co. for a weeks outing, we returned to Portland and two weeks later drove down to Monrovia and established our

Home at 529 E. Olive our present address. After the fire at El Toro I quit business, and lived on the interest of the money I had saved, loaning it on mortgages on real estate in Monrovia and Arcadia, but the depression of 1928 caught me, so I had to stand several losses. I have always managed to pay all bills promptly, and to assist my relatives many times, which gives me my greatest satisfaction looking backward over my life. James Buchanan^{III} was President when I was born, so have lived under 17 Presidents. This year Franklin D. Roosevelt Democrat was reelected President, by a large majority, the people evidently preferring to live on a dole of their own tax money, rather than be independent American citizens. Ida L. Leabo died in ^{Sept.} 1936, and Della ^{Sept.} Aug. 7, 1937, my sister Dorothea vacated my place on Duarte Road where they had lived nearly 5 years, so I sold the place to W. W. Ross for $3000. so now own no real estate. Aug. 29-1938 was the 81 anniversary of my birth, and am in good health, and welcome the arrival of my great-grand-son, Oct. 26, 1939. (Edward Lamar Leabo)

Lloyd Alanson Leabo, was born Feb. 13 - 1893 at Forest Grove, Ore. He attended school there, and grew up to manhood. His health becoming poor, he quit school, and came to California going as far down as San Diego, returning to ^{Portland} Oregon, health improved, he drove a truck for a wholesale paper Co. for some time. In 1915 he went to San Francisco, bought an auto-bus, which he operated in the City to the ^{World} Fair grounds for over one year. Returning to Ore. he married Selma Pearl Ten Eyck, returning to San Francisco, and later moved to Los Angeles, where he operated a jitney-bus for some time. Here Arthur Lamar Leabo was born Nov. 4, 1917. Later he moved his family to El Toro, ^{Orange Co.} where he was employed in a Genl. Mde. store, operated by A. A. Avery. A few years later he and his father bought the store. ^{Ralph Lloyd Leabo was born in Santa Ana May 18, 1926} The store took fire, and burned to the ground soon after, and the family moved to Alwood Cal. where he worked in a store. While here he divorced Selma Pearl and soon entered the employ of Patterson who manufactured soft drinks. This business was incorporated later as Genl. Bottling and Distributing Co. who have employed him as salesman many years. He married Daphne Culbert ^{widow} Huntington, Jan. 19 - 1928, who was born at Plymouth Cal. March 11 - 1893. She had two daughters, Lois Huntington born June 24 - 1914 and Dawn Huntington born Jan. 14, 1919. over

Co. also took course in air plane flying at air port in Monrovia. March 4, 1950 he married Marjorie Alyce O'Leary at Las Vegas, Nev.

A son Russ Charles was born to them Dec. 13-1953 later - he moved to Placerville, Calif. where he bought a house and worked for Aerojet Co.

I, Alongo Reas Leabo, having made a record of my ancestors in the first pages of this book, will now record the ancestry of my deceased wife Ida Heimman Leabo beginning with Edward Heimman who came to America in the 1600 and settled at Stamford Conn. where he became a substantial landowner. He was known as Sergeant Edward as he had been Sergeant of the body guard of Charles I of England.

8th child - Alanson Heimman Sr. was born Hudson Columbia Co. New York, May 1 - 1822. He was the son of Aavid Heimman and Deidamia Reynolds Heimman, His Grandmother Dorcas Nicholson was twice married to Reynolds and to Foster, and Alanson was named for his mother's half brother Alanson Foster, the Fosters then lived at Catskill N.Y. across the river from the town of Hudson where the Heimmans lived. There were also other Heimman relatives living there and later residents speak of the name of Heimman as one of the old names of Hudson. The family came from Conn. to N.Y. Alanson Heimman had five brothers namely - Oliver, Henry, Charles, La Fayette, and William, and three sisters - Sarah, Lucinda and Betsey. Oliver was a silk importer and necktie manufacturer in N.Y. City and was 'well to do' he was married three times, his first two wives being sisters named Bowen cousins of Daphnia Margaret Bowen, Alanson Heimman's second wife. Oliver Heimman had two daughters, Alice Bowen Heimman, who died young and another daughter who lived in New Jersey names unknown.

Henry had two daughters Emma and Henrietta.
both married and living in New York City.

Charles married Melissa Frote and had one son
Charles H. who lived in Binghamton, New York and died there 1908 or 1909 leaving no children.
He was well to do.

Lafayette died young - unmarried.

William was unmarried.

Sarah married - Elliott and had a son
Arvid and a daughter Anna who married
- Minor.

Lucinda and Betty know nothing about.

Alanson Hinman when a boy moved with his family to Greene, Chemung Co. New York.
We do not know whether his parents died there or later moved to Binghamton.

Alanson Hinman went to New York City when quite a lad to help his brother Oliver in his business. Later he taught school in New York

State and Pennsylvania and came to Oregon in 1844. He spent the first winter in the family of Mr. Whitman near Walla Walla, Wash.
where he taught the white orphan children
the Whitmans had taken into their home.

In the following year he went to the Salem Institute now Willamette University where he taught for two years after which he went to the Halls mission as secular agent with Perrin
B. Whitman (Mr. Whitman's nephew) Mr. and Mrs.
Saffran as associates. He remained there until after the Whitman massacre.

He then went to Wash. Co. and located in Paston Valley on a Donation land claim 640 acres. In 1854 he came to Forest Grove and bought the farm where he lived almost continuously until his death in 1908.
From 1862 to 1864 he conducted a mine
supply store in Auburn and Idaho City.
In 1866 he was elected to the State Legislature and also served as County Commissioner. In 1867 he was appointed Collector of Customs and lived at Astoria for for four years. Returning to Forest Grove he established a store, which he conducted very successfully until July 1891 when he sold out and retired from active business.

In 1846 Alanson Hinman married Martha Elizabeth Jones Gerrish June 17th. who was then a student at Salem Institute where he was teaching and was with him at the Halls mission with her infant daughter Heidamia at the time of the Whitman massacre. She was the daughter of Rev. James and Mary Ann Gerrish and came with her parents across the plains in 1844 in the same train with Alanson Hinman.

She was esteemed by all who knew her as a woman of unusually sweet and lovely character. She was devout and truly religious with a sure faith which carried her uncomplainingly victoriously through her last illness. She died in 1862 and was the mother of eight children Heidamia who died in infancy

Arvid, Mary Ellen, Ida, Oliver, Charles, Sarah, Alanson, Jr.

In 1865 Alanson Hinman married Sophia Margaret Bowen of Oberlin, Ohio daughter of Lucius and Margaret Hildine Bowen.

She had two sons Charles Lucius and Frank William. Alanson Hinman was twice elected mayor of the city of Forest Grove and was prominent in politics and all movements for the betterment of the city. He was one of the principle stock holders of a cannery established in the late 80's or early 90's and was a heavy loser when the cannery failed as many of the stock holders failed to pay in on their shares, and he and Samuel Hughes were held for the debts.

When the water system was put in in Forest Grove he threw more of his land into the city limits in order to help pay for it. Alanson Hinman joined the Presbyterian Church when he first came to Oregon but changed to the Cong. Church in 1848 and was always active in church affairs serving as deacon for many years. At the incorporation of Tualatin Academy and Pacific University in 1854 he was elected trustee and served on the board continuously until his death. For 25 years he was president of the board. At one time when there was a move to take the University from Forest Grove to Portland Alanson Hinnman fought it almost single handed and retained the school where it had been established in 1854.

He was the last surviving ^{charter} member of the board at the time of his death.

In his obituary it was written "In the loss of Mr. Hinnman Forest Grove loses a brilliant thinker and a man who has contributed much toward the advancement and betterment of the city". At the time of his funeral a proclamation was issued by Mayor Langhain that all business houses be closed at the time of the services and the Mayor and the Council attended in a body to do honor to him.

Ida Weinman (Leabo) was born near Forest Grove, Oregon December 21st 1854, 4th child of Alanson and Martha Weinman. She was educated at Pacific University and Puatatim Academy in Forest Grove, and lived in the family on the Weinman farm, adjoining the city on the East, most of her life, until she married A. R. Leabo Dec. 6 - 1881 and went to live on a farm near McMinville Yamhill Co. After a few years she and husband returned to Forest Grove where he was employed in J. E. Bailey's Genl. Mdee. store for 20 years. There 3 children were born to them Bertha Alice, Nov. 27 - 1884, Roy Weinman, June 12 - 1888 and Lloyd Alanson, Feb. 13 - 1893. In 1915 the family moved to E 30 and Oregon St. and made their home there, and in 1919 moved to Mouronia, Los Angeles Co., California. They bought a home at 327 E. Olive St. where she lived happily with her family near her until her death Jan. 28 - 1926 and is buried in Live Oak cemetery which adjoins Mouronia on the South.

On Dec. 16, 1847, James W. Nesmith, a member of Legislature of the Provisional Govt Of Ore, introduced a Bill appropriating, One Thousand Dollars to defray the Expenses of J. L. Meek, as a Special Messenger to Washington City. This was read the first and second times and referred to the Committee as a whole.

The Bill was amended by striking out "One Thousand" and x inserting Five Hundred and passed. Meek then resigned his seat in the Legislature and begun making arrangements to make a trip to Wash.

Starting early in January of 1848, according to Mr. George Wood Ebbert, only three of the ~~xi~~ original group that started out with Meek, went on to Washington with him. They were Meek, Ebbert and Jacob Leabe.

This sketch of that trip, secured directly from Mr. Ebbert in Jan 1877, is now printed for the first time. His home was a few miles N of Hillsboro, where he died 1 Oct. 1890 and was buried in the rural Cemetary, adjacent to the West Union Baptist Church.
