The Community Action Center For Appropriate Technology

Last year, the Community Services Administration perceived a need for technical support to improve the effectiveness of its weatherization program, and to develop other appropriate technologies which are directed towards enhancing local self-reliance among low income people.

Early this year, Congress approved $ 3 million for the start-up of a National Center for Appropriate Technology as part of the 1976 Community Services Administration (CSA) budget. Late last month, CSA funded a proposal for a National Center for Appropriate Technology (NCAT), to be located in Butte, Montana.

The NCAT proposal begins by stating that "Technology is a primary determinant of our society. In earlier times, individuals relied on small-scale technologies such as good insulation, wood stoves, windmills, and water wheels; and low-income communities used hydroelectric plants to supply their need for outside energy. But today such technologies have been replaced by high technologies, such as oil refineries and nuclear reactors, leaving low-income communities completely at the mercy of the centralized industrial system which now exists."

A growing number of groups in the United States are currently experimenting with small-scale technologies including generating food through intensive organic or hydroponic gardening; recycling of wastes through composting toilets or methane digestors, and developing community cooperatives and worker-managed community industries. This kind of appropriate technology has promising potential for making low-income communities and individuals self-reliant and in light of the soaring costs of fossil fuels and nuclear energy systems, appropriate technologies are fast becoming cost-competitive.

The main goal of appropriate technology is to enhance the self-reliance of people on a local level. General characteristics of appropriate technology are as follows:

- It requires small amounts of capital to purchase;
- It is simple and inexpensive to construct, repair and maintain;
- It encourages small-scale operations and businesses;
- It requires little energy to build and operate, and where possible, uses renewable instead of non-renewable resources;
- It is ecologically sound and protective of human

MAS GENTE POBRE EN '76

El gobierno federal ha publicado unos estadísticos el 25 de Septiembre.

La cantidad de gente "oficialmente" definida como pobre aumento por 2.5 millón al año pasado. Lo mas que ha aumentado en un solo año desde que Washington empezo compilando estadísticos de pobreza en 1959.

Oficialmente, uno de cada ocho Americanos mas de 15 millón, es clasificado como pobre. Pero en realidad la cuenta es mas grande.

Una familia de cuatro por ejemplo, no es considerada pobre, solamente que gane menos de $5469. Viene saliendo como $118 al mes por persona para que pague renta, compre ropa, vaya a la escuela o trabaje o simplemente que pague por otras necesidades.

Los aumentos mas grandes de gente viviendo bajo la categoria de pobres era entre esos no ordinariamente dominan los estadísticos de pobreza: Anglo-americanos, familias con padres y los que no son ansianos.

Desempleo:

En 42 porciento de los casos donde una familia caia abajo la categoria de pobreza, la razon fue que el jefe de la familia no podia hallar trabajo todo el año o estaba desempleado por 15 semanas o mas segun el Buró de Censo.

Los estadísticos decían que los fondos para los desempleados resuelven los problemas financieros. Por todo, 4.3 millón de gente estaban sin trabajo que se les acabo sus dineros de desempleo.

Estadísticos recientes han dado importancia a la menoría y mujeres en la sociedad de los Estados

CHILD'S PLACE EVICTED NEW HOME SOUGHT

Statistics show that each year in the United States the number of families headed by a single parent and the number of families in which both parents work is rapidly increasing. Accordingly, the need increases for day care centers for children, a need that has hardly been met. Federal legislation to subsidize such facilities has been limited, and high costs of private day care facilities oftentimes make it almost unprofitable for some people to work.

At present, A Child's Place, a non-profit day care facility in Hillsboro, is threatened with closure, due to a change in ownership of the building in which it operates. The building, formerly Americana Apartments in Hillsboro and now called the Hillsboro Arms, was recently purchased by a California-based corporation, Carlyle Group of Beverly Hills. Since the purchase of the apartment complex, rents have been raised, pricing many families out of housing. According to tenants at Hillsboro Arms, some 15 families have been forced to move to cheaper housing.

Bev Ashworth and Mimi Gray have operated A Child's Place since November of 1975. Both had an interest in alternative education, and through Community Action were made aware of the great need for

BOYCOTT SUCCESSFUL DOLE RECOGNIZES U.F.W.

In July of this year the United Farm Worker's Union called an all-out boycott of Dole-Westfoods products. A subsidiary of Dole, Westfoods controls 80 - 90 per cent of the fresh mushrooms distributed in the Northwest.

About six months ago, the Westfoods workers voted unanimously for UFW unionization, but Dole-Westfoods refused to negotiate a contract after the election. The workers immediately called for a boycott, hoping that enough concerned people would join them and economically force Dole to recognize worker rights.

ANNUAL MEETING

CARNIVAL ATMOSPHERE PLANNED

El Washington County Community Action tendrá la junta para elegir nuevos miembros de la mesa. Se llevará a cabo la junta en la cafetería de la escuela secundaria de Hillsboro el miércoles, Noviembre 3 a las 7 p.m. Tienen planeado tener una atmósfera de carnaval, con puestos de información, premios en la puerta, y una rueda de fortuna. Se enseñara una grabación televisada en cinta en español y inglés sobre los programas que Washington County Community Action ofrece. La grabación fue hecha por un voluntario que fue asignado que trabaje con la agencia.

Hay diez lugares desocupados en la mesa de directores, cinco lugares representan grupos de la comunidad en general y los otros cinco representan los grupos de bajo sueldo.

Sí quiere ser nominado mande su carta a Community Action 546 E. Baseline, Hillsboro, 97123, para empezar el proceso.

El público esta cordialmente invitado, y todos residentes del condado arriba 18 años de edad son elegibles para votar para los miembros.

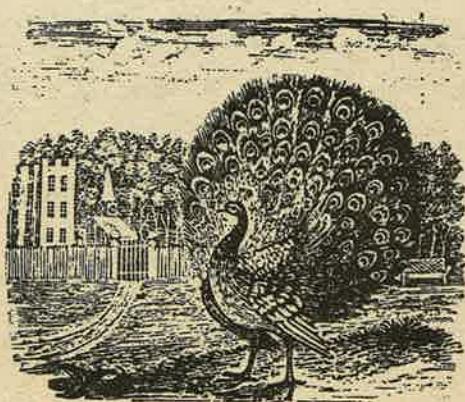

Each year Community Action holds a community meeting for the purpose of electing new members to its Board of Directors. This year's annual meeting is being organized with a carnival atmosphere in mind, with information booths, and a wheel of fortune with prizes.

A videotape about Community Action's programs will be shown in Spanish and in English. The tape was produced by Carol Woods, a VISTA volunteer assigned to the agency.

Ten openings exist on Community Action's Board, for people representing 5 general community groups, and 5 low-income groups. Any person who is over 18 and a resident of the county is eligible to serve on the Board. If you want to be nominated, send a letter to Community Action, 546 E. Baseline, Hillsboro 97123 to begin the election process. Duties of Board members are to attend monthly meetings and make decisions regarding the agency's policies and programs.

Members whose terms expire this year are: Centro Cultural, West Tuality Day Care, TST Youth Group, Arturo Cortez, CETA, ORO, Tack Goodell, José Garcia, Sr., and Lupe Bustos. A recent change in Community Action by-laws makes it necessary that individuals elected to the Board in each sector (public, private, and low-income) be representative of an existing community group. Other board member groups are Head Start, Metro-Area Gleaning Project, Washington County Public Defenders, and Washington County Bar Association.

This year's meeting will be held Wednesday, November 3, at 7:00 p.m. in the Hillsboro High School cafeteria. All county residents over the age of 18 are eligible to vote. Everyone is invited to attend.

HRAC BREAKFAST

The Washington County Human Resource Advisory Committee has chosen to sponsor quarterly breakfasts for Directors of Human Resource and Social Service Agencies in Washington County. All Administrative staff, especially Directors, are encouraged to attend a "no-host" breakfast at Hale's Restaurant on Thursday, October 28, 8:00 a.m. 2755 S.W. Tualatin Valley Highway. The purpose of the meeting is to meet each other.

HRAC is appointed by the County Commissioners to advise the Commissioners and the County administrative officer on concerns related to the County's involvement with the lives of the residents in meeting their social service needs. Primarily the HRAC has been used to discuss Revenue Sharing funds when they were available for social service concerns.

Among other things, the committee is dealing with increasing communications with providers of human services. In trying to meet this goal, the committee has decided to sponsor quarterly breakfasts for heads of social service and public agencies. We feel it is valuable to meet in an informal setting without a rigid agenda. These "no-host" breakfasts will last no longer than an hour and a half and will be open.

The first breakfast will be Thursday, October 28th. at 8:00 am. I sincerely hope that people will take the time and commit an hour and a half to come and meet.

SOLAR INCENTIVES DELETED

In the August issue of The Rural Tribune we reported on pending legislation which would give a tax credit on the installation of solar heating systems ("Get Your Heat From The Sun"). The bill, The Tax Reform Act of 1976, was passed by the House August 6th, but all language was stricken by the Senate that would offer incentives to people installing solar heating systems or adding extra insulation to their homes. As passed, the Tax Reform Act gives no credits or incentives to people using alternative forms of energy.

According to Representative Les AuCoin's office, chances of this type of legislation reappearing next session are "reasonably good". AuCoin did vote in favor of the Tax Reform Act as passed by the House, with the solar incentives.

2.5 MILLION NEW POOR

The federal government issued some down-to-earth statistics September 25:

The number of people "officially" defined as poor increased by 2.5 million last year, the largest jump in a single year since Washington began compiling poverty statistics in 1959.

Officially, one out of every eight Americans—over 25 million—is classified as poor. Unofficially, the number is higher.

A family of four, for instance, is not considered poor unless it has a yearly income of less than $5469. That comes to about $118 a month per person to buy clothes, pay rent, get to school or work, buy food and pay for other basic necessities.

The sharpest proportional increases in the number of people living below the poverty level came among those who do not ordinarily dominate poverty statistics; whites, families with a male head and the non-elderly.

In 42 percent of the cases where a family fell below the poverty line, the reason was that the head of the household had been either "unable to find work during the entire year" or "unemployed 15 weeks or more," according to the Bureau of the Census.

The statistics also laid bare the myth that unemployment funds solve the financial problems of those fired or laid off. In all, 4.3 million people were unemployed for so long last year that they exhausted their unemployment benefits, the Census survey found.

The recent statistics also highlight once again the plight of minorities and women in U.S. society.

Blacks continue to be forced into poverty; they account for 31 percent of the official poor even though they are less than 12 percent of the population.

Women who worked full-time and year-round had incomes 58.5 percent as large as those of comparable men workers. About a third of all persons below the poverty line are members of families headed by women.

The Census report also showed that while the median family income rose slightly in 1975, it was a hollow increase: inflation cut the purchasing power of those incomes by 2.6 percent.

Purchasing power, in fact, decreased for the second straight year.

A separate set of statistics released recently—the Consumer Price Index for the month of August—indicates that this loss of purchasing power is likely to continue. Consumer prices rose 0.5 percent in August. The index then stood at 171.9, meaning that goods and services bought in 1967 for $100 now cost $171.90.

CAMPAIGN SUCCESSFUL

Efforts to cut back the Food Stamp Program this year have failed and much of the credit goes to a nationwide letter-writing campaign. The Community Nutrition Institute, a research and lobbying group in Washington, D.C., cites the letter-writing and lobbying efforts of Food Stamp supporters as instrumental in making many members of Congress reluctant to vote for the reductions in the program.

The Food Stamp issue has become so controversial that many members of Congress don't want to vote on it so near elections, fearing they would antagonize constituents no matter which way they vote.

The Food Stamp issue will come up again next year. Discussion will begin again when Congress reconvenes. The current legislation authorizing the Food Stamp Program expires on September 30, 1977 and so the issue will have to be dealt with during the next session of Congress in order for the program to continue.

Food Stamp supporters expect Congressional opinion to be more favorable to Food Stamp legislation next year. The attack on the program has subsided, the size of the program has declined and elections will be over.

Next year, the Food Stamp legislation will be part of a comprehensive farm bill. In the past, rural legislators have supported more moderate Food Stamp provisions in return for urban support of farm provisions. Also, the general assumption is that if Jimmy Carter is elected, the White House would be more sympathetic to the Food Stamp Program than it has been under President Ford.

UFW BURGLAR GOES FREE

San Jose, California
A right-wing political burglar who has admitted to 17 break-ins aimed at the United Farm Workers (UFW) union was given a suspended sentence here September 16.

Jerry Ducote, former deputy sheriff and Republican Party youth leader, faced a possible 70-year prison term based on seven felony convictions related to his espionage activities. However, Santa Clara County Judge James Duvares said Ducote's 97 days spent in jail during his recent trial was enough time served. He suspended the one-year sentence—the minimum under California law.

Ducote, now a free man, has indicated that in collaboration with former Ramparts magazine editor Warren Hinckle, he will write a book about his activities in the 1960s against the UFW and other progressive organizations in California.

A look at some of Ducote's material was provided in an August article in New Times magazine by Hinckle and former FBI agent William Turner. The article details Ducote's meetings with Delano grower Jack Pandol and Salinas grower Steven D'Arrigo. The growers provided Ducote with money and material to burglarize UFW offices as well as the homes and offices of UFW supporters. Information from these burglaries was passed along a chain of right-wing contacts such as Western Research, Inc., described by New Times as a "private blacklisting service and general repository of information on the Left." The information finally reached the FBI and the CIA.

The article goes on to detail the role of the Delano police, aides of Governor Ronald Reagan and the FBI in covering up for Ducote.

This coverup began when Ducote was caught breaking into the UFW Delano headquarters. However, a meeting between Ducote, grower D'Arrigo's lawyer and Delano Police Chief James Ailes soon took care of the problem.

Even after he confessed to the 17 break-ins, Ducote was never charged with burglary but only with concealing stolen documents.

A SALVAR EL COLEGIO!!!

El Colegio ha estado en operación desde Diciembre de 1973. Durante los tres años pasados, el colegio ha sido el centro de varias actividades educacionales y culturales. El Colegio ha operado un programa de Educación Basico para adultos, un componente de G.E.D., un programa de colegio, (pero no necesariamente tiene que estar allí), la escuela del verano para migrantes, varias funciones de la comunidad, y varias conferencias grandes regionales. Ellos reciben fondos de agencias publicas y privadas.

En Junio de 1975 el colegio recobro la posición de candidatura, para acreditación de la Asociación de Escuelas y Colegios del Noroeste. Desde ese tiempo el Colegio Cesar Chavez ha tenido varios encuentros con el Departamento de Alojamiento y Desarrollo Urbano, una agencia federal que ha tenido una deuda de un millón de dólares contraída por el colegio, una deuda heredada por los ocupantes anteriores.

En 1974, el colegio y H.U.D. se pusieron de acuerdo que el colegio iba hacer 3 pagos de $10,000 cada año a cerca de la deuda de un millón de dólares. Se hizo el primer pago pero no pudieron hacer los otros por la razón que no podían recibir fondos porque no tenían acreditación, los fondos eran necesarios para que pudieran recibir acreditación.

En Junio de 1975 se les dió la posición de candidatura. Dos meses después, el colegio fue vendido en la venta de alquileres a H.U.D., dandole un año al colegio para pagar.

El Marzo de este año el colegio sumetió una propuesta a H.U.D., al encargo de H.U.D., tocante el futuro financiero del colegio. Fue rechazado por H.U.D. sin ninguna explicación específica. El colegio había propuesto que cualquier, 1.) que entre los do iban a trabajar sobre un contrato de arrendamiento de larga duración; 2.) Carla Hills Secretaria de H.U.D. que use sus poderes de discreción para que declaré el terreno propiedad sobrante, y que lo den al colegio; o 3.) hallar dinero privado para pagar la deuda. La respuesta de H.U.D. fue que el propósito fue revisado y hallaron que financieramente y legalmente no podían aceptarlo.

El colegio fue notificado por H.U.D. en Agosto 31 de 1976 que tenían que desocupar la propiedad, efectivo en el otoño. Pero según el colegio, ellos no tienen planeado moverse de allí, y han empezado clases de otoño con más de 100 estudiantes atendiendo.

Según el interlocutor del colegio Sonny Montes, si cierran la escuela sería una injusticia a los estudiantes, les explico la situación, les dió la opción de quedarse o irse. Por unanimidad, los estudiantes decidieron quedarse. H.U.D. siente que es mal dejarlos que se queden.

Montes y otros saben que la secretaria de H.U.D., Carla Hills tiene el poder de declarar el terreno, propiedad sobrante, y alcoba no hay reglas que aplican a la situación del colegio. Ellos han pedido las reglas escritas, pero hasta la fecha no les han enseñado nada.

El Colegio ha recibido mucho soporte de los Senator Hatfield y Congressman Ullman. La necesidad del Colegio se ha probado, y el Colegio ha ayudado a los contribuyentes guardar dinero por el modo de manteniendo la propiedad y que han podido seguir financieramente solventes. Ha de continuar a operar como un recurso valioso, en una sistema de educación que ha excluido a los Chicanos en el pasado.

Porqué H.U.D. esta presionando al Colegio, cuando en Mayo de este año, H.U.D. ofreció vender la propiedad al estado por solo un dólar $1.00? Mucho de la prensa ha implicado, que el Colegio ha hecho nada para pagar la deuda que se debe. Según Montes esto no es verdad. El Colegio ha tratado de negociar con H.U.D. de como pueden hacer los pagos, pero H.U.D. no lo acepta:

"Al presente el Colegio no le debe nada a H.U.D.", dice Montes. El Colegio no ha cumplido con la deuda y ahora es propiedad del gobierno. "H.U.D. ha dicho que entre 90 días van a vender el lugar. Pero no los vamos a dejar. Mucha gente ha trabajado muy duro, si nos salimos ahora, este lugar sería un revolcijo."

El Colegio ahora espera fondos de varios lugares, públicos y privados. Han estado en existencia por mucho tiempo y han probado buen éxito, como también saben sus asuntos.

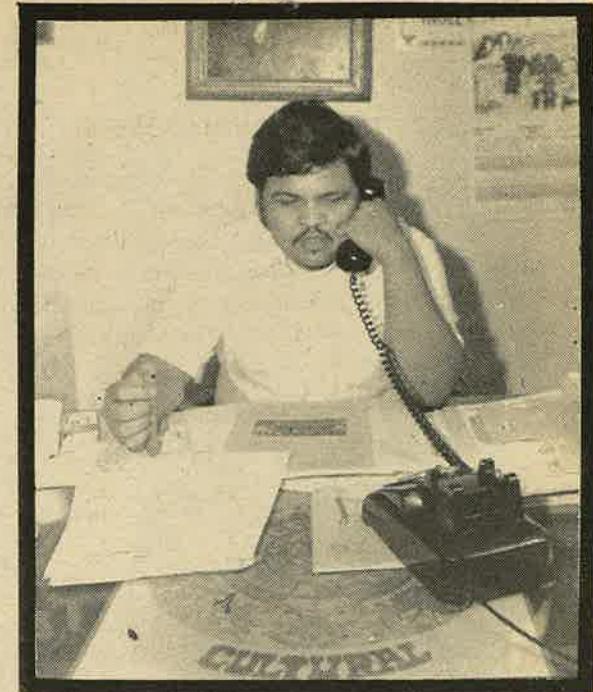

El Colegio necesita el soporte de toda la nación. Como un colegio que es operado por ex-campesinos, su fallecimiento otra vez enseña, que la lucha de una gente de minoridad necesita mas que apoyo fingidos, porque hace como el gobierno da, también quita.

Puede enseñar su soporte del Colegio, escriba cartas a cualquier de estas personas:

(b) Pedirle que mande una copia de las regulaciones que cubre la demanda de H.U.D. que el colegio desocupe el lugar para 9/20/76: (menos de tres semanas, desde que H.U.D. manda noticia demandando que desocuparan el lugar).

2.) Secretaria Hills ha de parar las acciones de H.U.D. tocante la propiedad de colegio hasta que todos alternativos hayan sido explorados por el personal de colegio. MAS GENTE POBRE.....cont. de p. 1

Unidos.

Negros continúan hacer forzados en la pobreza: hacen 31 porciento de los pobres aunque son menos de 12 porciento de la población.

Mujeres que trabajaban tiempo completo todo el año tenían sueldos 58.8 porciento tan grande como los hombres trabajadores.

Como un tercio de todas las personas abajo la categoría de pobreza todos los miembros son familias que son dirigidas por mujeres.

El reporte de Censo enseña que mientras el sueldo de una familia mediana aumentó un poco en 1975 era un aumento vacío: la inflación cortó el valor mercantil de esos sueldos por 2.6 porciento.

Valor mercantil bajo por la segunda vez en dos años.

Otro par de estadísticos que salió recientemente - el Índice de Precios del Consumidor para el mes de Agosto indica que con la pérdida del valor mercantil iba continuar. Precios de consumidores subieron 0.5 porciento en Agosto. En otras palabras compras y servicios en 1967 costaban $100 ahora cuestan $171.90

Septiembre (primero) de cada año marca el empezar de un nuevo programa para Community Action. Empiezan nuevos proyectos y nuevas direcciones sobre nuevos objetivos. Porque somos una agencia de gente, cambios pueden ocurrir diariamente: pero en papel y los planes esperamos cada Septiembre como un tiempo cuando podemos aplicarnos a lo que hemos aprendido en los doce meses pasados. El modo que aprendemos es por el contacto que tenemos con la gente de la comunidad: gente que tiene necesidades y problemas, intereses y ideas: gente que viene a la oficina, que nos manda correo, que nos dicen lo que están haciendo y lo que quisieran hacer por nosotros.

En esta edición del Rural Tribune le pedimos a cada programa, que nos diera una descripción de sus planes para los doce (12) meses que siguen. Cada programa tiene su carácter y dirección y son bienvenidas sus sugerencias y participación.

Al medio de Community Action hay un grupo de administradores que son los que manejan y operan los programas. Una responsabilidad de la administración es asegurando que la comunicación y coordinación siga continuamente con agencias de servicios sociales, oficiales publicos y mas importante la gente minoría y pobre.

El objetivo para este año es aumentar la habilidad de gente pobre y de minoría que controlen sus vidas propias. Este programa pide sugerencias de la comunidad para proyectos y ideas que puedan ayudar a cumplir nuestro objetivo.

Al tiempo las areas que recibirán atención son: Investigacion y el desarrollo de metodos para el mejor uso de nuestra energía y ambiente; El desarrollo de un centro de televisión que esté disponible para el uso de la comunidad; Buscar fondos para un grupo de mecánicos - programa que no proporciona; Investigación para posibilidades de establecer una unión de crédito especialmente enterados de la gente minoría y pobre.

Si tiene un interés en cualquier de estas áreas por favor contacte a esta oficina.

PROGRAMA: DEFENSORES DE LA COMUNIDAD

Eloy Laredo y Lenore Perez Asistentes de los Defensores
Rachel Roa Coordinadora de la Casa de Resguardo
(Shelter House)

Jerralynn Ness Directora del Programa Defensores

Este programa es parte de la (Community Action) programa Acción de la Comunidad que responde a las problemas y necesidades de gente pobre, la gente menoría del condado de Washington. Gente que viene en busca de ayuda son referidos a un defensor. Vemos nuestra parte quebrada en las áreas siguientes:

- 1.) Respondiendo a las situaciones de emergencia de nuestros clientes, obteniendo comida, ropa, resguardo, y proveéndole información y hacer referencias.

- 2.) Funciona como un defensor para los clientes que están teniendo problemas con otras agencias, propietarios, etc. Ayudamos en clarificando situaciones, explicando reglas y procedimientos o representando clientes en casos de Welfare, Estampas de Comida, la División de Empleo. También tenemos un compromiso de enseñar la gente como ellos solos se pueden ayudar sin depender de agencias por ayuda.

- 3.) Notando áreas donde no existen recursos que se necesitan para nuestros clientes y recursos como la casa de resguardo en casos de emergencia.

- 4.) Identificando las problemas que son traídas a nosotros y cuando es apropiado y haciendo esfuerzos para cambios de largo tiempo. Sentimos que ayudándole a la gente con sus emergencias es nada más temporalmente en vez de trabajando sobre resolviendo el problema permanente. Por ejemplo si una persona no puede comprar sus estampas, nosotros les ayudamos con un préstamo, entonces les hemos ayudado por ese mes, pero no necesariamente hemos cambiado la situación para el mes que entra. Por ayudarle a gente que compran sus estampas, se puede decir que la oficina de estampas no está respondiendo a las necesidades de la gente. Con esta información podemos empezar a organizar a gente interesada para avisar a los del estado y del federal en como el programa de estampas puede mejorarse.

El año pasado el programa de Defensores respondió a los problemas de 2000 clientes. También operamos la Casa de Resguardo que servía como 30 personas por mes.

Jose Garcia, Jr. Specialistas en
Servicios de Emergencia's

Mary Lou Rivera Specialistas en Servicios de Emergencia's

Elizabeth Linder Defensora del Welfare

Carol Woods, VISTA Volunteer

La casa es para gente de bajos sueldos que necesitan donde quedarse temporalmente - es limitado a 2 (dos) semanas.

Otro objetivo de este programa es trabajar sobre la coordinación de servicios de emergencia en este condado. Con esto tenemos un compromiso en asistir a nuevos recursos que son necesitados.

Corrientemente nuestro programa consiste de diez gente, Mary Lou Rivera, José García Jr. especialistas en servicios de emergencias. Rachel Roa - Coordinadora de la Casa de resguardo. Elizabeth Linder - defensora de Welfare. Diane Elia - Especialista de Juventud. Yolanda Landeros - Defensora de Juventud. Eloy Laredo y Miguel Caballero asistentes a los Defensores Annette Bromberg - Organizadora de la comunidad y Jerralynn Ness - Supervisora.

Nuestros objetivos mayores para este año son:

- 1.) Continuar a responder a las problemas de gente pobre y actuar por ellos cuando necesario;
- 2.) Asistir en el desarrollo de recursos necesitados;
- 3.) Abrir y operar un centro de defensores para Welfare;
- 4.) Buscar fondos para la casa de resguardo para que pueda seguir operando en manera calidad y asegurar su permanencia como los recursos la comunidad;
- 5.) Ayudar en desarrollar recursos necesitados para la juventud y responder a problemas relacionados con la juventud que son traídos a nosotros;
- 6.) Soportar el concepto de servicios de emergencias coordinados y trabajar junto con el concilio que se ha formado;
- 7.) Soportar el involvimiento de gente minoría a bajo sueldos en representación en mesas o comités que van a afectar sus vidas.

Son bienvenidas sus ideas o sugerencias que quiera ofrecer a nuestros programas. Cualquier que quiera envolverse en lo que estamos haciendo, puede ser voluntario o por donaciones, sientase libre a llamar a Jerralynn Ness a 648-6646.

EL BURO DE INTERPRETES

En los tres años que la agencia de Intérpretes del condado de Washington ha operado, ha crecido de un servicio menor que suplicaba a sus clientes con intérpretes - con una persona trabajando parte del tiempo y unos cuantos voluntarios; aun servicio que ofrece intérpretes de 13 idiomas con doce gentes trabajando tiempo completo y una lista de quince voluntarios y están de acuerdo con unas agencias públicas en la área.

La necesidad para mas intérpretes esta creciendo en Oregon y uno de los mayores intereses de esta agencia es que muy pocas agencias están respondiendo a esa necesidad.

El Buró de Intérpretes continua a operar con la filosofía que una persona tiene el derecho, no normas el privilegio de negociando con agencias de servicio público en su lengua primaria. Esto es especialmente verdad cuando hablamos de lenguas nativas de este país - el Español y Indio.

Mucho del tiempo son las agencias públicas de esta área que piden intérpretes. Muchas de estas agencias están de acuerdo con la necesidad de mas personas bi-lingüe pero no hacen nada para ocupar o pagar por un intérprete.

Mirando esta situación como falta de atención o muchas veces racismo, el Buró de Intérpretes ha iniciado un pedimento que vendrá en frente de la legislatura de 1977 para ayudar esta problema. El pedimento, LC 159 va requerir que agencias públicas proveen intérpretes para personas que no hablan inglés como su idioma primaria. Las dos idiomas que van a afectar a Oregon son Español y Ruso. Representante Pat Whiting, y el Buró de Intérpretes son los patrocinadores de este pedimento.

Reconociendo la necesidad que agencias necesitan ocupar intérpretes, nuestra agencia también reconoce que los intérpretes que con ocupados tienen que ser entrenados. Se ha planeado un programa para entrenar a los intérpretes y se acabaría con un certificado. Pusieron el programa al lado por los meses de verano por la demanda tan grande de intérpretes, pero resumirán en Octubre.

Gleaning

Este verano el Proyecto de Recogimiento, al que ha operado por cuatro años en el condado de Washington, al que va hacer un ejemplo para otros tres condados, al que incluye cinco otras agencias que trabajan debajo el título Metro-Area Gleaning Cooperative.

Este proyecto hace uso de comida que el ranchero deja en los files para que se pudra (o echar ha perder) y ser cultivada en la tierra, del ranchero.

Una vez que las canerías (o fábricas) o otro método especial para la comida que encuentre el cuota cuando ya no es posible económicamente práctico para continuar la cosecha, la comida o cosecha esta dejada para ser cultivada o dejar ha echar a perder en los files.

Muchas de la gente quien es son pobres pueden recoger o limpiar la cosecha que fue dejada, ha sido contribuida por los rancheros. Esta misma gente "adopta" una persona anciana, débil o incapacitada y en regreso pisa comida para ellos.

Este mismo programa de ayudarse uno solo puede organizar grupos para embotar y otros modos de preservar comida, donde hay cosecha sobrante y asegura comida para el año.

Este proyecto ha demostrado que es efectivo y factible y ha enseñado como una comunidad provee un servicio necesario a sus ciudadanos de la comunidad.

El buen éxito de este proyecto fue el impulso por la expansión del concepto de recogimiento. Miembros de este proyecto harán esfuerzos para que aseguren fondos, posiblemente por la legislatura de Estado y ojalá que se haga el proyecto por todo el estado.

Nuestra agencia ha tenido unas problemas en el proceso del desarrollo del programa. Falta de dinero, las agencias que rehusan responder, y el personal pequeño, es lo que ha detenido nuestra agencia. La mayor problema es hallando suficientes voluntarios especialmente los que hablan Español para tener un intérprete 24 horas al día.

Pero aparte de esas problemas el Buró de Intérpretes se siente positivo del progreso que ha hecho y la dirección que ahora está tomando.

Mucho del futuro del Buró está en la legislación de 1977, la necesidad y el derecho para un intérprete siempre va estar allí, si las agencias no cumplen con su responsabilidad. Pero el Buró de Intérpretes no tiene intenciones de perder las esperanzas.

Rural Awareness

El proyecto de Rural Awareness consiste de tres partes: El Rural Tribune, Community Education y el Buró de Intérpretes. Cada de estos partes caen bajo la misma definición comunicación, pero cada uno con su específico objetivo.

Comunicación viene de una necesidad expresada por la gente pobre y la menoría que hablen de las problemas que existen y que estén informados de los servicios disponibles a ellos.

En Octubre de este año el proyecto de Rural Awareness va celebrar su quinto año de publicar el Rural Tribune. Desde su primer edición en Octubre de 1972 El Rural Tribune se ha mejorado y ha crecido y sus capacidades de producción han mejorado (como la composición, la tipografía, las fotos, etc.) nos estamos haciendo suficientes solos.

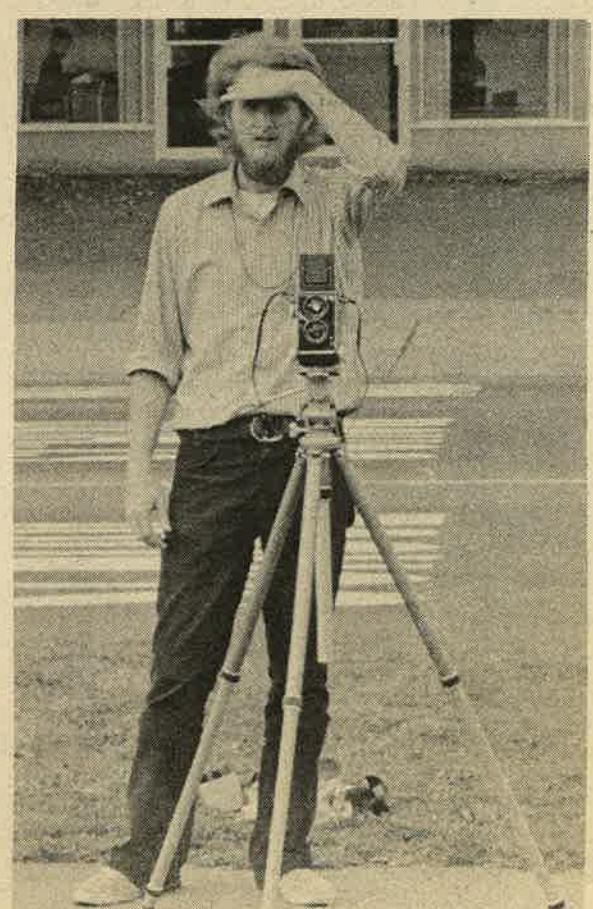

10,000 copias del Rural Tribune son publicadas cada mes y cada vez hay 10-20 mas nombres ala lista. Entre mas vamos alcanzando mas gente, hallamos que la necesidad es mas grande.

Durante el año pasado el Proyecto de Rural Awareness y el Rural Tribune ofrecieron su destreza a varios individuos, grupos que no proporcionan y ayudaron en la producción de folletos, boletines, y anuncios de servicios públicos.

También venturamos en el mundo de video con la ayuda de Carol Woods, una voluntaria de VISTA que fue asignada a nuestro proyecto. Recientemente compramos una sistema de Video grabación en cinta que nos va ayudar producir grabaciones para que la comunidad pueda ver. Queremos envolver mas gente en este aspecto, la grabación es un método efectivo para juntar y relatar información que es para el interés de la comunidad. Con tres personas que están entrenadas para usarlo, el Proyecto de Rural Awareness empezara a usar su equipo en sus actividades.

Hank's Thriftway, the largest family-owned shopping center in Washington County, was contacted by the UFW, who asked that the boycotted items (Dole fresh pineapple, bananas and coconuts) be pulled and replaced by another brand. Forty persons joined the UFW at the store in Cornelius to ask that Hank's refuse to deal with Dole until Dole recognized its workers' right to unionization. Hank's co-owner, Ray Hering, agreed to pull the store's fresh fruit until the boycott was called off.

Fortunately, it did not take Dole long to respond to the economic pressure that the UFW, the workers, and stores like Hank's Thriftway were placing on them. Within two months, Dole had signed a contract with the Westfood workers, recognizing their choice of union representation, and calling a halt to the boycott.

bilingual, bicultural day care in the area. Twenty children are enrolled at A Child's Place, most of them children of tenants at the Arms. Some of those tenants are living there or have moved there because of the day care center.

A Child's Place received an eviction notice September 20, which also included a $50 increase in rent for the last month. Since that time, their occupancy has been extended until November 30. What the Carlyle Group plans to do with their facility is uncertain, but one thing is for sure - if the use of the rooms is changed, they will have to be completely renovated, as all bathroom facilities are child-sized. The rooms were designed and built to serve as a day care center. So there seems to be little reason for closing the day care center as the Arms will still allow families to rent, families who will still have a need for day care.

A Child's Place is unique because it is the only bilingual day care facility in the area. At least half of the children are Spanish-speaking, and much has been done to promote cultural awareness and increase skills in both languages. A Child's Place is also unique because it provides an opportunity for the tenants to have close access to day care for their children.

Bev and Mimi are hoping to find support from the community in finding a new building in which to continue A Child's Place. Letters have been sent to many churches and community groups asking for help in relocating. If you can help, call Bev or Mimi at 648-8413 or 640-2165.

- It encourages group endeavors and social cohesion on a community level;
- It is labor intensive, rather than capital intensive; (i.e. the creation of local jobs, instead of the construction of costly machines)

In order to most effectively meet the program's objectives, it will integrate components of both centralized and decentralized approaches. While NCAT will do centralized planning, research and development at its facilities in Butte, Montana, it will also stimulate and support decentralized community experiments, research and demonstrations across the country. The program will work with already existing groups and will contract out for services, instead of setting up a totally new organization.

Research will concentrate on perfecting technologies for low-income communities in the following four areas related to weatherization, plus up to two additional areas related to weatherization to be selected during the course of the year:

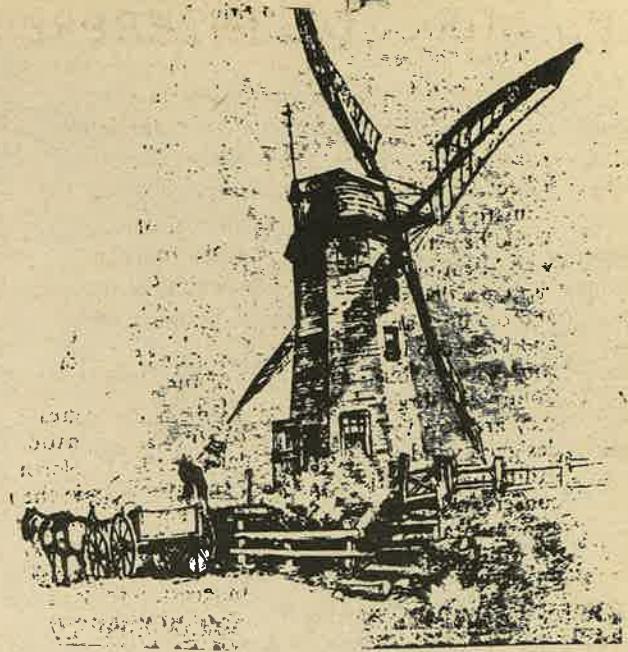

- Improving heat source efficiency (i.e. improved flue dampers or flue constrictors)
- Low-energy cooling and ventilation.
- Reducing the cost of insulation through improved manufacturing techniques.
- Weatherization of mobile homes.

Six small workshops will be organized around geocultural regions of the country because they are likely to have similar resources and needs and therefore require similar technical solutions. These workshops will last two or three days, and will result in concrete recommendations about what activities are needed and should be supported in each region during the next two years.

Information sharing will occur through the creation of an Appropriate Technology Library, Hot Line, Clearinghouse, and publications (monthly news bulletins, research and technical reports, multi-media slide shows, and six educational manuals). NCAT will have four mechanisms for performing outreach and education: 1) grants to existing grass roots groups; 2) extension workers; 3) regional advisory panels; and 4) an internship program. As an example of the use of local existing grass roots groups, RAIN magazine (Portland) could be supported to do outreach and education in the Northwest.

Of the total budget for NCAT, $ 1 million will be allocated for local field projects which support research and development of appropriate technologies.

If you are interested in becoming involved in similar projects, or want more information, call Jim Long at 648-6646.

Education Begins At Home

After three decades of heavy national commitment to education, the news is bad: Despite money, effort and optimism schools aren't doing the job. College board scores are lower than ever before, college freshmen can barely compose term papers, and Johnny can't read - let alone master the other two R's.

1958 launched this great national educational campaign, because it was believed the nation's ills would be curbed, if not cured, by giving schools a shot in the arm: more money. But the miracle cures were illusory, and discontent with the educational system set in - leading, in the sixties, to a new wave of research which shifted the focus in education from school to home.

More reports followed in the seventies, by Christopher Jencks and others: A child's overall achievement they said, was influenced more by the family than by the school. The number of books and magazines in a student's home had a greater effect on literary achievement than the income and education of the family. In short, success or failure in school was largely contingent upon the home.

Dorothy Rich, a teacher, columnist and education innovator started the Home and School Institute in 1972 because she wanted

"to tap the educational gold mine outside the school walls and build a home-school-community partnership." Through simple practical approaches, the Institute encourages both parents and educators to help children learn from everyday things around the house, thus supplementing what they learn at school. These projects, are in the main, easy, cheap, and interesting for children, roughly, from the age of four to nine.

They are to be played while the parent goes about normal household chores. The idea is to stimulate the child's curiosity and imagination, develop his sense of observation and association, and strengthen basic reading, writing and math.

Here are some suggested home learning activities:

- * Make an educational adventure out of a trip to the grocery store by letting the child pick out items on the grocery list.
- * Encourage the planting and growing of things.
- * Conduct simple science experiments: watching ice melt, water boil, and the bathroom steam up.
- * Cut out and rearrange cartoon strips to teach writing.

* Encourage the use of yardsticks, tape measures and string to measure assorted objects and areas.

* Use the bathroom scales to weigh various objects.

* Organize a tile-count in the bathroom.

* Make a game of finding certain letters or numbers that are scattered all around the kitchen: on soup cans, cereal boxes, assorted labels and containers. This game can begin as an easy one, then build up to harder, more challenging detective word and number games.

* Let the child (even a very young child) use the telephone to learn his numbers and letters. Make a list of numbers that can be dialed without dire consequences: for friends, relatives, the time, the weather.

* Select a simple recipe (for canned soup, Jell-o, pudding) and supervise the following of step-by-step directions.

* Make a shopping list with the child's help-and exercise that should acquaint him with everyday household items and also help him to spell. (The author adds realistically 'Don't try to do this for every trip to the store-once a week is fine.')

* Give your child his own calendar, to be filled in with birthdates, reminders, messages.

* Mediate 'talks' at the breakfast or dinner table: toss out a subject, and ask the child to make a statement about it. Good training for articulating thoughts.
