He divided the development of a language into the stages in which he classified them. He paid English a glowing tribute and that he believed that it would be the universal language. Prof. Kori's address was very profitable and by his speaking style was made very interesting. An open discussion followed his address. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

BASKET BALL WITH McMinnville.

Game Scheduled for Friday, January 17--Victory is Expected.

One week from Friday evening the B. team meets McMinnville Col. B. B. at McMinnville. The team has been practicing consistently and it appears that McMinnville is scheduled for a drubbing. Last year Pacific met McMinnville at home and McMinnville and in both contests McMinnville proved superior. However McMinnville says Pacific cannot do it this year. McMinnville played a good game with Newberg a short time ago and the score indicates that they are a stronger and faster team than last year. Rivalry in baseball between the two institutions has been keen and the team is going down to McMinnville imbued with the spirit that never dies. Witham, who tosses the ball into the basket as easily backward as forward will keep a McMinnville guard from passing, Gwynn who is playing left guard puts up a fast snappy game and runs down about three guards. Humphreys at center with a year's experience shows great improvement, and after having played against Foster at O. A. C. he feels confident of taking care of ordinary sized centers. All that can be said of the Ward Bros. to play guard is that they are always in front of the ball that starts for Pacific's goal.

Miss Chandler Entertains.

One of the most enjoyable social functions of the Christmas holidays was the New Year's party given by Miss Helen Chandler. Throughout the evening the guests were required to use only their left hands and those caught using their right ones, were compelled to pay a forfeit, the redeeming of which furnished a great deal of amusement for the evening. Each guest was given the name of some animal, and these animals were drawn on a blackboard with the left hand, many of which had to be labeled in order that the others might know what they represented.

After the New Year was ushered in with the blowing of whistles and the ringing of bells the guests repaired to their respective homes.

Those present were Misses Mizpah, Daisy and Camilla Abernethy, Rasmussen, Templeton, Clapp, Hoge, Chandler, Hoffman, Messrs. Lawrence, Ralph, Paul and Richard Abraham, Clapp, Humphreys, Mason, Mills and Ferrin.

A second Boxer rising is about to take place. The grafters who deliberately carried off college property will be run down and punished for this uncalled for crime. The college detectives have gathered sufficient evidence to convict the guilty parties. This matter will be pushed to a successful conclusion. No means will be spared to root out once for all the grafting evil which has permeated the college. Students are determined that "Boxer" shall be returned to his former home, the college rostrum, and there remain. This Chinese curio was given to the school several years ago by the missionary, Dr. Walker of China. "Boxer" had up to his flight occupied an important position in Brighton chapel. We had become after many years of relation with Boxer much attached to him. He was generally known by the students as the "College Spirit." Boxer had until his departure been at class feeds and picnics and took general interest in student activities. Now if Boxer was of any value to his possessors we could see an object in them retaining him. He means nothing to the departed classes whose members are scattered over the entire Pacific coast. Boxer should be returned to its lawful possessors, the college and students, and prevent the secret service men from using force to obtain the Chinese idol.
